PERIODICAL PUBLICATIONS FROM THE AUSTRALIAN JEWISH COMMUNITY

A Union List

Compiled by Marianne Dacy

University of Sydney, Archive of Australian Judaica, 2007, fifth edition
I. DETAILS OF SCOPE AND ARRANGEMENT OF BIBLIOGRAPHY

Scope

The bibliography lists more than 400 Australian Jewish periodicals as well as over 100 annual reports and yearbooks of Australian Jewish organisations currently held in some 20 libraries and Jewish resource centres in Australia. Some New Zealand material is also included.

Arrangement

The listings are arranged alphabetically, initial articles being disregarded. In the case of title changes, each sequence receives its own entry with title cross references. Subject to availability of details, periodical annotations include: place of publication, the responsible body, dates and length of run, size, frequency, editorship, content, the name of the printer, as well as where these periodicals are to be found. Titles of some periodicals mentioned in articles were also included, even when actual copies were not found. When it was possible to trace starting dates, these were added to Annual Reports of organisations.

The plus sign "+" indicates that the periodical is still being published (shown at the end of runs) and "imp" at the end of a run shows that some issues are missing. The symbol nd means undated.

II. LOCATION SYMBOLS AND ADDRESSES

This list gives a key to the symbols for contributing libraries and synagogues to this union list of periodicals, annual reports and yearbooks. Names and addresses are listed under each state.

The first number is dated Friday, 11 Tammuz, 5631, June 30th, 1871, priced at six pence and consisting of eight pages about 38 cm x 30 cm. Not successful financially although attempts were made in 1873 to form a limited company to take over the paper. Includes the first list of subscriptions to the new Sydney Synagogue, traces the foundation of the St Kilda and Sandhurst Synagogues, and discusses the appointment of Saul (later Sir) Samuels as a Minister in the government of Henry (later Sir) Parkes.

50cm

Frequency: fortnightly prior to 1929, then weekly. Irregular number of parallel series from July 3, 1930 ending on February 25, 1931, with old series 4, no 57, and new series 11, no 77. Reduced format in 1931 after Israel Horwitz resigned the managing editorship at the end of 1928.

Editors: Rev. Adolph T. Chodowski, 1922-1925. Taken over by Zionist leaders in 1925, with I.K. Sampson and Israel Horwitz as editors. After 1928 managed by a company consisting of a number of Zionist leaders. Rabbi Leib Aisack acted as co-editor of The Australian Jewish Chronicle for most of its existence. It became the official publication of the Zionist Federation of Australia. Articles on local and international Jewry, Zionism, Jewish culture, literature and religion. Rising costs aggravated by the Depression led to the paper's closure. Two issues of the newspaper have not been recovered [v.10, nos 60 & 61 - October 30 and November 6, 1930].

Between 1933 and 1935 amalgamated with Di Oistralier Leben to become The Jewish News.
In 1935 The Australian Jewish Herald resumed as a separate publication with Newman Hirsch Rosenthal as editor. Another distinguished editor was Nahum Barnet. A Yiddish supplement was issued in 1936, and edited by Gedaliah Shaiak, which ran for 7 issues. In 1949 a new Yiddish supplement, The Australian Jewish Post, was added, and continued to be issued until the paper's closure in 1968. The new series, a pro-Zionist publication, became the official organ of the Victorian Jewish community.

General Editor: Dan Goldberg.

Although carrying the same name, the papers are separate, with only some shared editorials. Mona Klein remained on the Board of Directors as Publisher with Peter Klein as Managing Director till early 1996. In 1990 a Hebrew supplement entitled Ivriton was added, in line with the Melbourne paper, but it was short lived, running through sixteen issues until August 11. In May 1991, the Adler family of Sydney took up a majority investment in the Australian Jewish Press. The Klein family retained a major interest, while Sam Lipski also retained an equity interest. Mrs Bobby Adler, Mrs Kathy Shand and Ms Roxanne Adler joined the Board of Directors. Mrs Kathy Shand also commenced a more active publishing role in the company. In March 1996, a number of management and editorial changes occurred, with Vic Alhadeff becoming the national Sydney editor till 2004, with Peter Klein and Susan Bures leaving the company. Management changes resulted in separating the newspaper's ownership from its management. Since 2004, both the Melbourne and Sydney editions have come under the editorship of Dan Goldberg.

The first volume of a Queensland edition was published on Friday February 28, 1992. In the first edition, the publishers announced that this represented the first stage in a commitment to present a local edition of the Australian Jewish News in Queensland, South Australia and Western Australia. These editions were published monthly for a few months, and were included with both the Melbourne and Sydney papers. After the appearance of the final edition of South Australian Jewry in June 1993, this too was merged with The Australian Jewish News. In April 1994 the Queensland edition was moved to a fortnightly cycle before ceasing. In January 1994, the Australian Jewish Press took over responsibility for publishing New Moon magazine, a Jewish arts and cultural magazine circulating to the 18-35 year old group of Jewish adults in Sydney every two months. It had started life in 1988 as a broadsheet and calendar published by the NSW Jewish Board of Deputies. See also The Australian Jewish Times and Blue Moon. New Moon ceased publication in April 1996 because of lack of financial support, after funding was not able to be continued by the Australian Jewish Press.

Editors: Robert Klein and Mark Rotenstein
Supersedes Jewish Young Adult Forum
The magazine for young adults was the creation of Neil Korn, and incorporated the Jewish Young Adult Forum Calendar. The group merged with an affiliated group, Alternative Jewish Agenda, on 4 February 1992. Other groups affiliated were: Australian Jewish Genealogical Society, The Australasian Union of Jewish Students, Fellowship of Jewish Doctors, Food for Thought, Good Companions Group, Holocaust Descendants Group, Images, JCA Directions, Jewish Business Network, Jewish Vegetarian & Ecological Society, The Lost Tribe, Shades, Shammash, The Sydney Jewish Theatre, UIA Young Leadership, Yehudim ve Chaverim, and the Zionist Youth Council representing the four zionist youth movements in Sydney: Betar, B'nai Akiva, Habonim and Netzer.

In March 1994 the magazine changed its name to New Moon. In 1996 the Australian Jewish News was unable to continue subsidising the newspaper, and it was forced to close. It was succeeded by a broadsheet calendar J Net Calendar, thus coming full cycle from the original publication of the Jewish Young Adult Forum Calendar.

25cm; 8pp
Frequency: twice a year
Editor: Kathleen Keely (1985-1990); Susan Bures (July 1991-1995); Henry Mendelson 1996+

The newsletter was published about three times a year, from March 1985 - April 1991, by the "Shalom" Centre for Christian-Jewish Relations of the Sisters of Our Lady of Sion, in close consultation with the Victorian Council of Christians and Jews (founded in 1985). Kathleen Keely (NDS) was the main editor, with Mary Lotton (NDS) and then Shirley Sedawie (NDS) for the first issue of 1991. In July 1991, the publication was taken over by the Council of Christians and Jews, NSW, with Susan Bures as editor. From April 1992 it was adopted as an official publication of the Australian Council of Christians and Jews (inaugurated in December 1991). The number of pages was increased from four to eight pages in July 1992. Featured in the newsletter are international and local events affecting Jewish-Christian relations, and feature articles on issues of historical interest to both Jews and Christians. From 1992 till 1995, a Christian and Jewish Calendar of principal feasts and fasts was issued annually with the newsletter. From 1997-1999 “and” was added to the title for issues 33-40 dropped, then added again from issue 41. No 37 was not issued. No 67 was issued in December 2006. The newsletter now appears “on line” at <http://www.Jcrelations.net> as well as in hard copy.

For use on Sunday, March 12, 1944 and at other times. Sydney, The Council, 1944
This may have been the only issue. The Council was in existence for part of the 1940s, largely through the efforts of Rabbi Dr. Israel Porush, who was Rabbi of the Great Synagogue, and Bishop Pilcher, the Anglican Bishop of Sydney. It had as its model the Council of Christians and Jews which was founded in England in 1942. It was hoped the council would help to combat anti-semitism and racism which were especially feared during the war years and its aftermath, when Jewish migrants were among those coming to Australia as refugees.

There appears to be doubt as to the original name of the Society. Hilda V. Marks wrote that the Society's name was the Sydney Hebrew Ladies' Dorcas Society which merged with the Sydney Ladies' Aid Society to form the Sydney Hebrew Ladies' Maternity and Benevolent Society (Australian Jewish Historical Society: Journal and Proceedings, v.2). According to the 1844 rules of the Society, its original name was the Hebrew Ladies' Benevolent Institution and in the late 1880s became the Hebrew Ladies' Dorcas and Benevolent Institution (Australian Jewish Historical Society: Journal and Proceedings, v.2, pt 2, 1944, p. 77). Another name cited is the Hebrew Ladies' Dorcas Society for the Relief of Distressed Jewish Women. In 1946 the Society became the Jewish Maternity Society and was dissolved in 1981.
The Society cooperated with other welfare societies, and was assisted by the Sir Moses Montefiore Jewish Home, later the Montefiore Home.

Jewish Territorial Organisation. Perth
f. 1906
The Jewish Territorial Movement was formed in Britain in 1905 by Israel Zangwill. Its aim was to "procure a territory upon an autonomous basis for those Jews who cannot or will not remain in lands in which they at present live". Theodore Herzl had originally thought of Uganda as a possibility. By 1912 Zangwill had abandoned his plans for a Jewish colony in Australia. However, in the late 1930s, Dr I. Steinberg from the Jewish Territorial Movement in London came to Australia, with the proposal that the Kimberleys be the place for a Jewish State. Among the supporters of such a plan was Sir Isaac Isaacs. A movement in Australia called the Freeland League was founded, which publicised its ideas in a journal called The Australian Jewish Forum (See Periodical List). The Central Zionist Archives in Jerusalem hold the original of the first annual report of the Perth branch. Correspondence records from the movement have been microfilmed for the Archive of Australian Judaica.

Sydney Zionist Society
f. 1908-1918
Annual Report
The Society grew out of the ashes of the New South Wales Zionist League. There was a complaint in the sixth annual report about the lack of interest shown in it by the "majority of their co-religionists in the State". The same report notes that since the formation of the Society in 1908, over £475 had been collected and forwarded to Zionist purposes which included practical objects for the permanent improvement of Palestine, being donations to the National Fund, Tree Plantation Fund and the Building Fund for Yemenite Jews. In 1918, the Sydney Zionist Society amalgamated with the Young Men's Zionist Association to form the Union of Sydney Zionists. See also: Union of Sydney Zionists.
